State Commission, Army See No Need To Close Boca Reservoir to Fishing

"Little Justification" For Closure Is Reply Of State Fish And Game Commission to Query By Chamber of Commerce

NEVADA POLICE POST CALIFORNIA SIDE

With the opening of the trout fishing season in the Truckee-Tahoe area only a week distant, a number of important questions have arisen which may or may not be settled by May 1 when the invasion of nimrods is scheduled.

Probably the most frequently asked is the question as to whether or not fishing will be permitted in the Boca reservoir. Game Warden Bill LaMarr is of the opinion that it will be and should be. This opinion is backed by a letter from George P. Miller, executive secretary of the California Fish and Game Commission, to the Truckee Chamber of Commerce which reads:

"I have your recent letter in which you inquired regarding the proposed closing of Boca Reservoir to access by fishermen. As far as the Division of Fish and Game is concerned we can see little justification for the closure of the entire reservoir and, in fact, I believe that that would entail greater effort on the part of the owners for supervision than would thorough and effective protection of the dam alone.

"It is also our understanding from the army authorities in this area that dams such as that at Boca are only closed to trespass by enemy aliens and not to the general public. If there is any further assistance or information that we can give you we will be glad to do so."

Army officers have declared that they have received no instructions to prevent fishermen from using the reservoir.

However, officials of the Truckee-Carson Irrigation District of Nevada are quoted by Warden LaMarr as announcing that no fishing will be permitted on the reservoir and that the area will be posted to warn fishermen of this decision. In the meantime, the Truckee Chamber of Commerce, which is seeking a fair opinion from authorized sources regarding the status of Boca, is contacting state and federal officials Rumors that special privileges will be granted are being investigated by the local organization.

The military authorities have declared that bridges and other objectives in the district will be posted to keep fishermen at a distance of 100 yards.

LaMarr said he is questioning the authority of posters placed between Farad and the Fleisch ditch warning fishermen to keep off the river in that area. The posters are signed, LaMarr said, by "The Nevada State Police." What authority this organization has to post streams in California remains a puzzle to local authorities.

The local warden also declared that he is attempting to have the Sierra Pacific Power Company install screens at the Floriston outlet to prevent the slaughter of trout in the generating plant below there. The state law provides that screens be installed and maintained, but the warden declared he is having difficulties in having this accomplished in this instance.

Fishermen are warned to observe the military regulations and the orders of all guards while fishing along the river. Strict enforcement of the rules must be accomplished and fishermen are asked to cooperate to allow the streams and lakes to remain open throughout the season.

If there is one thing that serves as a goat getter to us, it is to have a politician claim credit for something after it has reached its culmination and attempt to credit it entirely to his account. It is always incumbent for our elected representatives to serve their communities and districts well. That is no more than can be expected, but when they claim credit for everything that occurs beneficial to their district, regardless of whether or not they had a hand in its accomplishment, it is a cheap way of currying favor. We are only too happy to heap praises upon our representatives when they give us a helping hand or through any act of their own, bring benefit to our district. A word of appreciation once in a while is earned, but when they attempt to gain reknown through efforts of someone else, that's another story. We are not citing any particular instance, but refer only to generalities—this time.

* * * *

The Nevada State Police, who ever they are, are taking a lot of territory under their wing when they attempt to post the Truckee River way up in California warning fishermen to stay off. They may have the right idea, but if the military or California police cannot find signs for posting without using Nevada placards, then we will be pleased to supply them. Nevada interests are also taking an unusual interest in the Boca reservoir this year. This also, we believe could be protected by interests inside our state if protection is necessary. Something tells us that we should get back under California jurisdiction and let the Nevada groups know that we are not yet a part of their wonderful state, even though sometimes we may wish that was the case.

Better get your fishing equipment ready. A week from tomorrow the season opens and we understand it should be good. Check over your equipment and if you are short see your local dealer and get in shape for the big day.

Dollar Property Is Likely Location Of Tahoe Navy Base

20 Surveyors To Arrive at Tahoe By May 1st to Begin Work

Representatives of Punnett-Parez & Hutchinson, San Francisco engineering firm, were in Tahoe City Monday making housing arrangements at Tahoe Inn and Lake Chalets for a party of 20 surveyors who will arrive on May 1 to begin preliminary work on the $30,000,000 navy training base to be built at Lake Tahoe.

The San Francisco men stated they had no knowledge of the exact location of the station which will house 20,000 men, and may be expanded to 30,000, according to navy officials in San Francisco.

Reports in Tahoe City indicate that the R. Stanley Dollar property northeast of Tahoe City may chosen for the station. This property, which includes 2630 acres, has a large frontage on the lake, and also has its private water supply from a mountain stream. This water supply was tested last winter by government engineers, it was declared.

Naval authorities have announced that the station would require ten square miles of land and a lake frontage of two miles. It would be located within a short distance of the Southern Pacific branch line from Truckee to Lake Tahoe, it was indicated. This railroad branch was cleared of snow a week ago, a month earlier than the usual spring opening.

The influx of workers looking for employment on the project has already begun. Resorts and business houses are planning as large expansions as possible for the anticipated business.

Fourth Selective Service Sign Up For 45-64 Class Planned on April 25-27

Sierra Sun Office In Truckee, Bliss Home at Tahoe City Are Among Registration Centers In Area for Week-end Sign-Up

800,000 MEN EXPECTED TO REGISTER IN STATE

SACRAMENTO, April 20—Brig. General Joseph O. Donovan, state director of selective service, today said that all arrangements for the Fourth Registration under the Selective Training and Service Act and scheduled in California for April 25-26-27 have been completed and that his organization is now ready and waiting to sign up an anticipated 800,000 men between the ages of 45 and 64 years.

In addition to the regularly established 284 local boards, there will be an additional 2,500 registration places established in densely populated areas, at institutions, defense plants, and other points where the allocation of an additional registration point may mean lessened hardship to the registrant and the saving of time in the national war effort.

In respect to registration places, General Donovan added that all aliens, including evacuees, must present themselves for registration, provided they are not exempt under the provisions of the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940. He said that special registration points will be available to evacuees at assembly points and camps.

One of the last steps to be taken at state headquarters in the preparations for the Fourth Registration was the mailing Sunday night of approximately 1,000 regulation mail sacks, filled with registration forms and destined for all parts of the state.

Under the Fourth Registration all men born on or after April 28, 1877, and on or before February 16, 1897, are obliged to register by law.

Registration places in the Tahoe-Truckee-Donner area announced by General Donovan were as follows:

Soda Springs Hotel, Soda Springs and the Sierra Sun, Truckee, in Nevada County.

Kings Beach Post Office, Kings Beach; Norden Post Office, Norden; and the Bliss home, Grove Street and State Highway, Tahoe City, all in Placer County.

Post Office, Youngs; Strawberry Lodge, Highway 50, Strawberry; Post Office, Kyburz; and Lawson's Lodge, The "Y", South end of Lake Tahoe, Highway 50, Tahoe Valley, all in El Dorado County.

Truckee Telephone Office Employees All Bond Buyers

All Ten Local Employees Subscribe to Pay-Roll Deduction Plan

A. P. Leitch, manager of the Truckee exchange of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, is now displaying in the business office a placard indicating that all ten employees in the Truckee office are buying War Savings Bonds through the payroll deduction plan.

"In 1938, United States Savings Bonds were included among the several payroll deduction plans for employees' savings," Leitch said, "so with this plan already in effect, Truckee employees were quickly able to respond to our country's appeal for the loan of their dollars to help in buying guns, ammunition, tanks airplanes and ships to take us through to victory.

"The response of our people in Truckee is very gratifying and, as a result, the Truckee office has been given a placard emblematic of their 100 per cent participation."

HEROES AT ST. NAZAIRE

Valr is where you find it. In the daring raid of British commandos that battered the great Nazi sub base at St. Nazaire on the French coast, who were some of the men singled out for special mention? A former Arctic explorer; he commanded the naval forces in the attack. A former London building contractor; he commanded the "special service forces." Who were the officers who served so ably under them? Men formerly, and respectively, a professional rugby player; a newspaper editor; two doctors; an author.

Valor, we say is where you find it, and here is proof that when the fortunes of war put men to the supreme test of courage, you will find on the honor roll of valor, the names of men from virtually every walk and profession of life, far removed though they were in peace time from enterprises of limitless hazard and daring.

KEEP YOUR TRAIL POSTED

"Build a mousetrap better than anyone else, and the world will beat a trail to your doorstep." So runs the time-tested adage. But what if the seller of mousetraps is out of mousetraps temporarily, or his supply is rapidly dwindling? Isn't it a good idea for him to keep the trail to his doorstep well posted with signs so the public will never forget the way?

Exeprience itself provides the best answer. In World War I more than a dozen leading advertisers optimistically announced, "No more advertising till the war is over." Within two years, their names were inscribed on business mortality records. They had closed shop for good. Their names forgotten, their products passed by in favor of those kept prominently before the public by more far-sighted enterprisers, all those firms, without exception, passed into oblivion. Perhaps it is realization of this fact that has led firms in England, where shortages are far more acute than here—to continue advertising even when they actually have no products to sell. They well know the importance of keeping their names in the forefront of the public's attention. So do America's alert enterprisers, aware that now as never before, the public wants to know the where, when and what of sales of goods, of credit terms and priority regulations.

There are no priorities, no restrictions, on advertising and for the very good reason that it has an indispensable job to fill in war time. World War I proved that. Now is America's opportunity to profit by the lesson!

GOVERNOR OLSON'S CUE

Two governors, on opposite sides of the continent, are pushing state policies which should be adopted nationally.

Governor Lehman, New York, recently effected a reduction of 25 per cent in that state's income tax. And Governor Sprague of Oregon has announced that he will urge the legislature to reduce the Oregon income tax by 25 per cent.

The people are entitled to the greatest possible tax retrenchment. Federal war taxation is the highest in history, and going much higher. It is up to states, towns counties, school districts, and all taxing bodies, to pare their budgets to the absolute limit.

Surveys made of local government inndicate that there is a tremendous amount of overlapping of departments duplication of activity, etc. Experts are convinced that it is perfectly feasible to reduce the cost of local government by hundreds of millions a year without eliminating any actually essential service. The budget of the smallest community should be scrutinized as carefully as that of the greatest city.

Governors Lehman and Sprague have taken a position that should be adopted by all public officials. The people cannot pay for war, and pay for unnecessary governmental functions at the same time, either local or Federal.

For two years, Hitler has kept an army of occupation in Norway, but far from ebbing, the spirit of rebellion among the people continues steadily rising. Norway's clergymen have boldly resigned in protest over the attempts of Nazi puppet Quisling to interfere with the Church. When Quisling's Minister of Education directed school chidren to join a Nazi-sponsored youth organization, school teachers resigned. The public has stoutly backed all the courageous acts of its churchmen and its teachers. Mounting hostility to the Quisling regime means Hitler's army of occupation will have to be strengthened by troops badly needed on the German fighting front—which is help the United Nations can use.

Thurman Announces For Re-election To Assembly

ASSEMBLYMAN THURMAN

Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman, who represents Nevada county and nine other counties which comprise the Sixth Assembly District, this week announced that he would again be a candidate for the office subject to the will of the voters. Thurman has served as assemblyman for the state's largest district for the past two sessions. He was first elected in 1938 and is now completing four years of service.

In a statement to the press of the district, Thurman says, "I have endeavored to serve the district to the best of my ability endeavoring at all times to truly represent the people and not any political group or machine. To me a public office is a public trust and if the people of the district believe that I have been faithful to that trust, I shall greatly appreciate their support. The people of America right now are interested in winning the war and the taxes we pay should be for that purpose. For this reason I shall continue to support economy in state government. When federal taxes must be increased because our way of life hangs in the balance, I believe that state expenditures, not directly connected with our war effort, should be cut wherever possible so that we may go all out for our Nation's war program."

Thurman has served in the lower house during the two longest legislative sessions in the history of the state legislature. He has also served in several special sessions. As a result, he believes that he has gained valuable legislative experience which can only be secured by such service

Assemblyman Thurman is chairman of the mines and mining committee of the lower house, one of the most important committees in point of service to his large district He is also a member of the important ways and means committee in which all appropriation bills originate and as a member of this committee, supported all appropriation bills for the support of the State Board of Forestry in combating the fire menace in our forests. He was a co-author of the bill which passed the recent session of the legislature known as the Mayo-Desmond bill allocating to the division of forestry $4,022,700 with which to incresae forest fire suppression equipment and man power to fight possible sabotage in our forests.

Other committees on which the assemblyman serves include fish and game, of which he is vice chairman. which committee is also important to the district; natural resources; motor vehicles; commerce and navigation; public charities and corrections; soldiers and sailors affairs, and, during the last regular session, he was the only member of the reapportionment committee selected from the 18 counties of the Second Congressional District.

In all legislation effecting Nevada County, Thurman has worked with Senator J. L. Seawell, who represents this county in the State Senate.

Thurman is the only newspaperman in the lower house. He has been editor of the Colfax Record for the past 21 years.

In addition to Nevada County the district includes Placer, El Dorado, Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Mono, Tuolumne, Mariposa and Inyo counties.

Politically Speaking

by JOHN W. DUNLAP
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, April 23—(U.P.)—Secretary of State Paul Peek is not one to let grass grow under his feet, which may be one reason why at 37 years of age he is the youngest secretary of state in California's history and a leading member of the democratic organization.

So Peek moved swiftly when Attorney General Earl Warren announced he was vacating his office to run for governor. Peek got the jump on the field by announcing his candidacy for attorney general on both tickets. His presence on the ballot no doubt will scare off many of the lesser lights and insure a spirited contest.

Peek had been flirting with the possibility of running for lieutenant governor and possibly for a return to the secretaryship he received in 1940 from Governor Olson. But Peek is a working lawyer and the relative inactivity of both the secretary of state job and lieutenant governor prompted him to make a try for the major post of attorney general, an assignment many believe of equal importance with the governor.

And the salary comparison can't be overlooked. Attorney General now pays $11,000 per year, secretary of state $5,000 and lieutenant governor only $4,000.

Peek will have several advantages in his campaign. He will get strong support from Governor Olson and the Democratic party organization, since he is a former state chairman and deelgate to the 1940 national convention. He has an easy name to remember, and is young and good looking. He comes from Long Beach and is best known in the populous south. He cites as further qualifications for office that he is in good standing as a practicing attorney, served two terms in the legislature and guided the 1939 session as speaker, and gained administrative experience in his present post.

Peek is married and has one daughter. He has lived for more than 30 years in California, played varsity football and graduated from the University of Oregon and got his law the hard way by attending Southwestern University at night and completing a four-year course in three years.

Little known is the fact Peek dropped his first name of William to avoid confusion with the similar name of his father.

Peek's entrance in the attorney general's campaign will lighten the chores of Frank M. Jordan in his effort to be elected secretary of state the job held for so many years by his father, the late Frank C. Jordan. The younger Jordan was a deputy under his father but parted company with Peek. He is a Republican and well-known around the state.

The lack of an incumbent attorney general may bring back to the political wars one of the best known former office holders, U. S. Webb, who held the job from 1902 until 1939. Webb at 77 years is more vigorous than most men 10 to 20 years his junior and he may prove to be the strongest man the Republicans can get in the field. Webb had some trial baloons up for governor but Warren's campaign will take precedence within party ranks.

Webb has had the advantage of seeing his name at the top of the ballot for nine successive terms until he retired in 1938. That may help him this year if the small army of candidates gets in the race.

State Senator Ralph Swing of San Bernardino said a mouthful when he advocated reorganization of state government as a means of cutting expenses.

He wasn't far wrong when declaring that "at least two-thirds of the present state bureaus and commissions could be elminated without disrupting things too much."

Swing wants the governor to call a sepcial session of the legislature to juggle the state government with a pruning knife for the duration of the war. He urged that governmental costs be slashed and the cash saved be put into a sinking fund to meet the problems of readjustment which come with peace.

Entrenched state employes and patronage lovers fight hardest when practical experts point out many savings that could be effected in government, such as combining all tax collecting agencies into one agency, putting liquor control under its own agency, lopping of unessential department functions, restricting use of state cars, etc., etc.

Governor Olson tried a few of these suggestions in his legislative program but the animosity between the chief executive and legislature relegated the whole list to the ashcan.

Another to enter the race for attorney general was George T. Davis, San Francisco attorney who was counsel for the late Tom Mooney. Davis also represented the last state prison board opopsition to ouster proceedings of Governor Olson. Davis is a vigourous young attorney better known in the north than the south. Since graduation from the University of California law school in 1931, he has served with the San Francisco district attorney's office, the Golden Gate law college faculty, and was a founder and first national vice president of the National Lawyers Guild.

The death of Fred Stewart, member of the board of cualization since 1926 and a leading member of the Republican party in California, adds another puzzler to the 1942 picture. Governor Olson will have the appointment of a successor and then there will be a free-for-all election for the lucrative post in August and November.

Stewart represented the second district, comprising the east by, lower Sacramento valley and San Joaquin valley. Members are paid $7200 per year btu assume added importance through administration of liquor control.

Stewart at 61 was a hard-working executive who never knew when to stop. He was an authority of taxation and helped author the Riley-Stewart sales tax act of 1933.

U. S. Troops Enter Mexico as Guests

In a stirring display of international solidarity, American and Mexican armed soldiers paraded back and forth across the border in the first peaceful interchange of armed men between the two countries. More than 25,000 cheering spectators watched the army units march through Calexico and Mexicali in a thrilling highlight of the third international desert cavalcade of Imperial Valley.

Tahoe-Sierra Counties Get Money From State Board

SACRAMENTO, April 23— Allocation of $1,179,199.75 to California cities and counties as their share of the alcholic beverage license fees earned during the last half of 1941, was announced today by R. E. Collins, chairman of the state board of equalization.

Of the $5,536.25 to be distributed in Nevada county, $3,031.25 will go to the unincorporated area on the basis of actual licenses issued. Of $8,539.38 allocated to Placer county, $3,328.13 goes to unincorporated areas and of El Dorado county's $2,429.85, $1,671.10 goes to the unincorporated area.

The allocation to local governmental units represents one-half of the $2,358,399.51 in alcholic beverage license fees earned by the board during the six-month period ended December 31, 1941. The state's share goes into the general fund.

Collins pointed out that with the current distribution, cities and counties throughout the state will have received a total of $20,550,954.01 from liquor license fees since he repeal of prohibition. This huge sum has been collected and distributed by the board at no cost to the cities and counties.

Recent semi-annual reports of income from this source have been as follows:

Year	April	October
1938	$ 991,962.23	$1,998,111.17
1939	1,222,192.85	1,368,619.29
1940	1,425,045.24	1,591,980.46
1941	1,283,931.32	1,583,490.10
1942	1,179,199.75

Board members explained that a logical use of these funds would be to aid the state in the enforcement of the Alcholic Beverage Control Act inasmuch as this duty is held jointly by state and local peace officers.

Of the distribution announced today the largest will go to Los Angeles County and its cities with a toal of $361,073.60. The City and County of San Francisco is second with allocation of $171,611.38.

MY PLACE IN THE SUN

by DOUG BARKETT

Our good friend and neighbor, Allen "Scoop" Thurman of Colfax, has again announced himself for the office of state assemblyman for this district and his record commends itself highly to the voter and taxpayer of this district. I know that we all do not agree 100 per cent with "Scoop". But the fact remains that he has served this district wholeheartedly, and, what is more important, effectively. He is intellectually and poltically honest and has proved himself a capable legislator without peer in the lower house. Thurman has made mistakes, but, as Art Marts told me, "The man who don't make mistakes, don't do anything." Thurman's balance sheet is top-heavy on the credit side and entitles him to the support of the voters of his district.

On Friday, May 15, the schools in Truckee and at Lake Tahoe will hold election for the purpose of choosing trustees for the coming terms. It behooves us all to give careful consideration to those for whom we vote. Especially when our way of life is in such jeopardy from outside, should we strengthen that way of life at home. It is a known fact that democracy is effective only to the extent of the education and ability of its people to think. The schools are the base of democracy and we cannot be too careful in choosing those who will administer the affairs of the public schools. The future depends on your support of and interest in our public schools system. Vote on May 15 and then back up your choice with vigor.

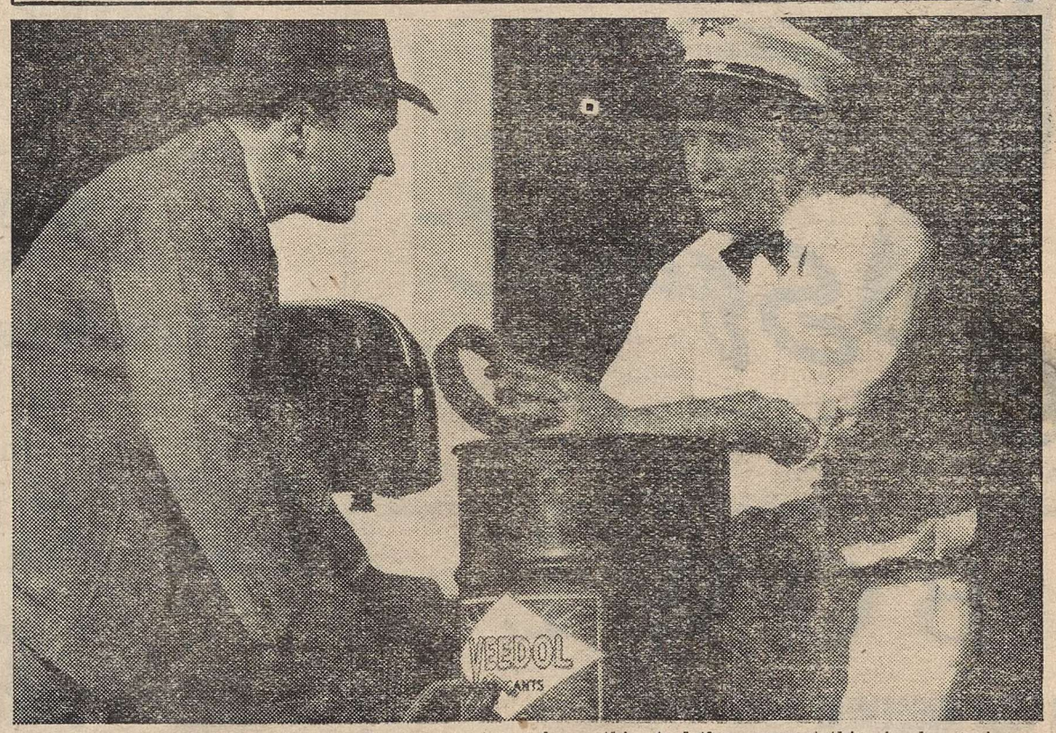
Hidden Service Saves Gasoline!



Because it's hidden under the hood many a motorist forgets his air cleaner. Yet this strange device is a money saver when it's running right. When it's dirty the air can't get through to feed your motor an economical mixture of air and gasoline. And servicing it doesn't take long. Simply take it out, bathe in solvent, then dip in oil. This should be done every 1000 miles or so. Associated Dealers know this. And they suggest this simple service when it's needed. It's part of what they call "Smiling Associated Service," Smiling Associated Dealers, you know, are the men who sell Associated Aviation Ethyl and Finer Flying A gasolines, Tydol motor oil, Veedol oils and lubricants. They are the men, too, who bring you the broadcasts of football and other sports.

Dr. Teeple May Return To Truckee for Fishing Season Opening May 1

"Well, around May 1 my thoughts go to fishing, Truckee, and the people whose friendship has been so much to me."

Thus writes Dr. William Teeple of San Diego, who for two summers practiced dentistry here, in a letter to Dr. J. H. Bernard.

"Guess everyone in Truckee has his rod and reel ready for the opening," continues the letter, "but I'll bet the Tahoe Naval Station news is more excitement than the fishing. When I heard it over the radio, it seemed a dream come true.

"So the Sierra Sun today just made me realize I'd made a mistake by leaving last winter. And believe me I wish often I was back."

Teeple continues that in all probability he will return if only for a short time to get in some fishing and to greet old friends. Whether he will remain is uncertain, the letter indicated.
